

Gerry has been a skilled nurse for more than 23 years and has held various clinical, educational, and managerial roles both internationally and in the United States providing safe and quality care among his colleagues. His background includes perioperative, endoscopy and perianesthesia nursing and is passionate for healthcare quality, safety and accreditation, nursing board certification, and professional development.

He is currently working with Providence Saint John's Health Center in Santa Monica, California as the Director of Clinical Education and Professional Practice. He has also served as their Magnet Program Director.

In addition to his work, Gerry currently served as the Vice President / Secretary and Education Chair of the Association of Perioperative Registered Nurses (AORN) – Los Angeles Chapter, Co-Chair of the AORN Perioperative Informatics Specialty Assembly. He is also an active member of the Providence Caregiver Resource Group for Asian American Pacific Highlander Native Hawaiian in Southern California.

Prior to working in California, Gerry has also worked in Houston, Texas; Abu Dhabi, UAE; Bisha, KSA; and Pasay City, Philippines. Gerry received a bachelor's degree in nursing from Western Mindanao State University in the Philippines, and a master's degree in health care quality and safety from Sam Houston State University in Texas. He also holds several advanced degrees in biblical studies and board certifications in nursing and health care quality.