

The image is a professional profile card for Dr. Tommy Dickinson. At the top left, the words "Board Advisor" are written in a blue serif font. To the right is the logo for the Society of Internationally Educated Nurses in North America (SIENNA), which features a golden oil lamp with a globe inside, and the text "SOCIETY OF INTERNATIONALLY EDUCATED NURSES IN NORTH AMERICA" and "SIENNA" below it. In the center is a circular portrait of Dr. Dickinson, a man with short blonde hair wearing a dark suit and light shirt, sitting in a red theater seat. Below the portrait, the name "DR. TOMMY DICKINSON" is printed in white capital letters on a dark purple background. Underneath the name is his title: "Professor of Nursing Education, King's College London, United Kingdom". To the left of the title is a square QR code.

Tommy Dickinson, PhD, RN, FEANS, ANEF, FAAN is a Professor of Nursing Education and Head of the Department of Mental Health Nursing at King's College London, UK. He graduated as a registered nurse in 2001. Following a clinical career working in nursing homes for older people in the UK and Australia in various nursing and leadership roles, he moved into an academic role in 2006. He held lectureships at several universities before commencing at King's in 2016. In 2018, he was awarded the prestigious endowed Talbott Visiting Professor of Nursing at the University of Virginia in the USA. Tommy is also an Honorary Professor of Nursing at Queen's University Belfast.

Tommy's unique research contributions overlap nursing practice, history, and education. His primary focus is on diversity and inclusion in health care and education, taking a contemporary and historical perspective to improve nursing care and education delivery. As a nursing education leader, his work focuses on advancing and promoting inclusive education, and he has acted as an External Advisor on this nationally and internationally. He also has an international research profile in gerontological care focusing on inclusive care for LGBTQ+ older people in nursing homes.

In 2021, Tommy became the first and only UK-based nurse to be selected for a Fellowship in the USA's National League for Nursing's Academy of Nursing Education. He is also a Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing and the European Academy of Nursing Science. Tommy is an Editorial Board member of the Journal of Nursing Education and was appointed to the Inaugural Editorial Staff of the Journal of American Nurses Association - New York as an International Editorial Advisory Board member.
